fevereiro de 2014 Critical update for Internet Explorer 9, 10 and 11 A Critical update for Internet Explorer 9, 10 and 11, a Security update for Internet Explorer 8 (32-bit) on Windows 7 (32-bit), and a Service Pack update for Internet Explorer 8 (32-bit) on Windows Vista (32-bit) is available from Microsoft. Both vulnerabilities are remotely exploitable through a malicious Adobe Flash Player or Silverlight, but we highly recommend that you download and run the update on the latest supported version of Internet Explorer immediately after installing it. As Internet Explorer 11 is not installed by default, we also recommend that you download and run the update on the latest supported version of Internet Explorer immediately after installing it. In addition, we recommend that you: Run IE as an administrator (right-click IE on the desktop and select Run as administrator). Disable the IE Search Autocomplete setting. If you are on Windows 7 (or Windows Vista), disable the Automatically Activate and Use Protected Mode when Launching this Add-on setting. To download the updates: Press the Start button. Type Microsoft Update in the search box, and then press Enter. In the list of update results, click Check for updates. Note If your computer is connected to a domain, the update download will be started. Click Download and Install Updates. The download may take several minutes to complete. Once it finishes, click

OK to restart your computer.
The installer will update Internet Explorer 11. If Internet Explorer 9 or Internet Explorer 10 is already installed, the updates will be downloaded for both of these browsers. Please be aware that installing these updates may impact your
