This work is a follow up study of a cohort of patients with isolated congenital hyperinsulinism (HI) treated in our institution. In this cohort, we have studied the incidence of other genetic syndromes, complications observed at the time of diagnosis, and the prognosis. We have also evaluated the effect of etomidate as induction therapy, and the efficacy of the perchlorate regimen in the treatment of HI. We have investigated in the database of the National Hospital and the Deveaux Children's Hospital all patients diagnosed with isolated HI between 1 January 2007 and 31 December 2013, obtaining data on epidemiological profile, etiological diagnosis, serum glucose at diagnosis, serum potassium and liver
